

Mission Statement – Drone Diego Coordinating Committee

The Drone Diego Coordinating Committee (D2C2) is the organizing center and host committee for the National Anti-drone Days of Action, to be held in San Diego, April 4-7, 2013. In D2C2, we seek to bring together organizations and individuals, locally, nationally, and internationally, working on a range of actions to bring public attention to the danger that drones present to the people of the world.

Our opposition to drone warfare is based on our stand for peace and justice. We believe that:

- ✧ Armed drones are weapons of terror. They kill combatants and civilians, children and adults, men and women, alike. These extrajudicial assassinations by killer drones violate the normal bounds of international law.
- ✧ Surveillance drones threaten out liberties, spying on our communities and borders, invading our personal privacy.
- ✧ Drones make our families less secure. By making it easier for the military and paramilitary spy agencies (like the CIA) to continue their policies of endless war without limits in either space or time, they benefit only the 1%.
- ✧ San Diego is the drone production capital of the world. General Atomics manufactures the Predator and Reaper drones (which may be armed with Hellfire missiles) right here in San Diego County. Their corporate headquarters are in La Jolla. Northrup Grumman, which manufactures the Global Hawk surveillance drone, also has facilities in San Diego.
