

Oct 21-23 - Join with Afghan women's rights and anti-occupation activist

Malalai Joya

A Woman Among Warlords:

Prospects for Afghan Women and Non-Intervention In Afghanistan

Mon. Oct. 21	Tues. Oct. 22	Wed. Oct. 23
7pm -Al Awda Center, 2720 Loker Avenue West Suite J, Carlsbad CA 92010	11 am – San Diego City College rm V-101 7 pm - Nasatir Hall 100, San Diego State University	2 pm – UCSD International Center Lounge 7 pm -Church of the Brethren 3850 Westgate Place, San Diego 92105

Malalai's tour is sponsored nationally by the United National Antiwar Coalition (UNAC) and the Afghan Women's Mission and in San Diego by the San Diego Coalition for Peace and Justice and the Peace Resource Center 21031018

www.sdcpj.org

info@sdcpj.org

nodrones@prcsd.org

Oct 21-23 - Join with Afghan women's rights and anti-occupation activist

Malalai Joya

A Woman Among Warlords:

Prospects for Afghan Women and Non-Intervention In Afghanistan

Mon. Oct. 21	Tues. Oct. 22	Wed. Oct. 23
7pm -Al Awda Center, 2720 Loker Avenue West Suite J, Carlsbad CA 92010	11 am – San Diego City College rm V-101 7 pm - Nasatir Hall 100, San Diego State University	2 pm – UCSD International Center Lounge 7 pm -Church of the Brethren 3850 Westgate Place, San Diego 92105

Malalai's tour is sponsored nationally by the United National Antiwar Coalition (UNAC) and the Afghan Women's Mission and in San Diego by the San Diego Coalition for Peace and Justice and the Peace Resource Center 21031018

www.sdcpj.org

info@sdcpj.org

nodrones@prcsd.org

Who is Malalai Joya?

Malalai Joya, 34, first gained international attention in 2003 when she spoke out publicly against the domination of warlords in Afghanistan. She was at that time serving as an elected delegate to the Loya Jirga that was convened to ratify the Constitution of Afghanistan. In 2005 she became one of 68 women elected to the 249-seat National Assembly, or Wolesi Jirga, and was the youngest member of the Afghan parliament.

In 2007 she again spoke out against former warlords and war criminals in the Afghan parliament and was thereupon suspended from the parliament. Since then she has survived six assassination attempts. She travels in Afghanistan with armed guards and has worked tirelessly on behalf of Afghan women and to end the occupation of her country.

In 2010, Time Magazine placed Malalai Joya on their annual list of the 100 most influential people in the world. Foreign Policy Magazine listed her in its annual list of the Top 100 Global Thinkers. In March, 2011, The Guardian listed her among the "Top 100 women activists and campaigners." Her most recent book, A Woman Among Warlords: The Extraordinary Story of an Afghan Who Dared to Raise Her Voice, was published by Scribner in the U.S.

Malalai's tour is sponsored nationally by the United National Antiwar Coalition (UNAC) and the Afghan Women's Mission and in San Diego by the San Diego Coalition for Peace and Justice and the Peace Resource Center

21030925

www.sdcpj.org

info@sdcpj.org

nodrones@prcsd.org

Who is Malalai Joya?

Malalai Joya, 34, first gained international attention in 2003 when she spoke out publicly against the domination of warlords in Afghanistan. She was at that time serving as an elected delegate to the Loya Jirga that was convened to ratify the Constitution of Afghanistan. In 2005 she became one of 68 women elected to the 249-seat National Assembly, or Wolesi Jirga, and was the youngest member of the Afghan parliament.

In 2007 she again spoke out against former warlords and war criminals in the Afghan parliament and was thereupon suspended from the parliament. Since then she has survived six assassination attempts. She travels in Afghanistan with armed guards and has worked tirelessly on behalf of Afghan women and to end the occupation of her country.

In 2010, Time Magazine placed Malalai Joya on their annual list of the 100 most influential people in the world. Foreign Policy Magazine listed her in its annual list of the Top 100 Global Thinkers. In March, 2011, The Guardian listed her among the "Top 100 women activists and campaigners." Her most recent book, A Woman Among Warlords: The Extraordinary Story of an Afghan Who Dared to Raise Her Voice, was published by Scribner in the U.S.

Malalai's tour is sponsored nationally by the United National Antiwar Coalition (UNAC) and the Afghan Women's Mission and in San Diego by the San Diego Coalition for Peace and Justice and the Peace Resource Center

21030925

www.sdcpj.org

info@sdcpj.org

nodrones@prcsd.org